1. Initial Evaluation

The first step in the physical therapy process is a comprehensive evaluation. During this visit, the therapist will:

- Review the patient's medical history
- Conduct a physical examination
- Discuss the patient's goals and concerns

This assessment allows the therapist to develop an individualized treatment plan tailored to the patient's specific needs.

2. Development of a Treatment Plan

Based on the evaluation, the therapist creates a customized treatment plan that may include:

- Specific exercises to improve strength and flexibility
- Manual therapy techniques to relieve pain and stiffness
- Education on body mechanics and ergonomics
- Recommendations for home exercises

3. Implementation of Therapy

Patients typically attend therapy sessions 1-3 times per week, depending on their condition and recovery goals. During these sessions, therapists guide patients through exercises and provide hands-on treatment.

4. Progress Monitoring

Regular progress assessments are crucial to ensure the effectiveness of the treatment plan. The therapist will adjust the plan as necessary to optimize recovery and address any challenges that arise.
