The Late 19th Century: Colonial Beginnings

The late 19th century marked the beginning of significant changes in Egypt's political landscape, primarily influenced by European colonial ambitions.

British Occupation (1882)

- The occupation was justified by claims of instability and mismanagement by the ruling Khedive, Tewfik Pasha.
- Although Egypt was nominally still a part of the Ottoman Empire, British control effectively turned it into a protectorate.

Impact on Society and Economy

- However, these reforms primarily benefited British interests and led to significant social unrest.
- The economy became heavily reliant on cotton exports, making Egypt vulnerable to global market fluctuations.

- This shift resulted in increased economic disparity, as wealth became concentrated among a small elite.
